- Go the repo, into resources/css/home-page.css and download and use it only
 - If you have any other changes to be made, please put that extra css in your index.html file only
- This is the message it should have
 - Your issue has been successfully reported and our devs will contact you on the provided email for further queries or for informing you if the bug had been resolved or not
 - Thank you for your cooperation

- Please see the styling and other stuff on your own
- There will be NO NEED to remake/copy-paste the top or bottom navbars

Task 2 - Talk to the Developers Page

- This page is the one which will have our info
- Here as well, you will use the same file "home-page.css" and write any other css directly in your "index.html" file
- The heading should be
 - Get in touch with the developers of Duopoly
- Subdivide the page into two, left and right with equal spacing and all
- In both the subdivisions, you must include the following
 - A big border around it
 - A round circle on the top which will have our photo (leave the src blank for now)
 - An <hr> just beneath the circle of 70% width
 - A table with two columns beneath the <hr>, the first row merged into one
 - The table should have 4 rows
 - An <hr> again with 50% width
 - After the table, there should be a textbox and beneath it, two inputs with labels

 - Your email
 - Get the input css and designs from here and edit it to fit our needs. Also, include its css in the <style> tag only, DO NOT make your own separate file
